A Monster Dress Goods Sale.

100,000 YARDS TO BE SACRIFICED.

No Attention is Paid to the Cost of the Goods.

No Attention is Paid to the Value of the Goods

Our whole object is to advertise the department, and we shall bring the crowd, it makes no difference what the cost may be. We start in to win, and there is not one particle of doubt as to the result.

100 pieces half-wool dress goods, all new, best selling shades, only 8½c.

Think of it! The same price as a common print.

100 pieces double fold cashmere, only 12½c.—A big bargain at 22c.

50 pieces all-wool cashmere, fine quality, 50c; worth 85c.

One lot assorted dress Goods, 25c; cheap at 40c.

Several large lines of Fancy Dress Goods are placed on sale at big bargains.

Thousands of yards are offered at 5c, 6½c, 8c, 9c, 10c, 11c, 12½c, 15c up.

Without a Parallel! Without an Equal!

Our monster dress goods sale over-riding all competition with the lowest prices on record. All this week sacrificing dress goods. Setting down the prices as we grow larger.

Every purchaser of one dollar's worth of goods has a guess on the number of beans in our glass jar. A guess may secure for you the handsome prize buggy, worth $140.

Three years ago the cry among our competitors was "Overstocked." Two years ago they were overstocked. One year ago the echo was overstocked, and to-day the same wail goes forth, overstocked. To-day we are wiring and writing for goods. It is almost impossible for us to keep up our assortment.

WE ARE NEVER OVERSTOCKED

A large arrival of new goods. A large extra force of new clerks. Busy as bees from morning till night is the master spirit that moves us to renewed activity. This will be a great week of activity. We are slaughtering dress goods. We are crowding our house with new trade. We are building up.

We always sell Notions the cheapest,

We always sell Domestics the Cheapest,

We always carry out every assertion we make in an advertisement to the very strictest letter.

Have you visited our big Book Department? Every time you purchase one dollar's worth of goods you have a guess.

CHESS TABLE

For the balance of the week you will have to excuse us from giving away tea sets or the various other articles, as we are entirely out of them, and do not wish to deceive you. However, what we lack to interest you in tea sets we shall make up in sterling values that will give more satisfaction to the masses than the tea set.

Commencing on Saturday, the 3d

And until further notice, we will present to each purchaser of merchandise to the value of $1 a handsome Chess Table, which ornaments the drawing room as well as utilizes itself in harmless pleasure.

We believe that in presenting what we have to give direct to the worthy purchaser gives more satisfaction than giving a chance in an article where the chances are decidedly small for the chancers. We do not wish to praise idly about what we have not, but if you will

COME INTO OUR STORE

And see what we have, we know that you will not leave it until you have filled such of your wants as you can. We have double the stock we ought to have to supply our trade, and our buyer insists on sending us more. It is no secret

WE ARE OVERSTOCKED NOW

And if you want anything that is in our way, we assure you there is no one that will attempt to follow us in price.

CATARRH!

A NEW TREATMENT BY

W. N. DAVIS, M. D., M. C. P. S. O.

Graduate of "Chicago Homeopathic College," Chicago, and member of the "College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario," Canada.

HOMŒOPATHIC SPECIALIST of Diseases of Ear, Nose, Throat, Chest, and all Chronic Diseases.

TREATMENT.

Starting with the claim now generally believed, by the most scientific men, that the disease is due to the presence of living parasites in the tissues, we devote our treatment to their destruction, and the catarrh is cured.

To accomplish this result we use a medium, either in spray or inhalation, or both, as the case may require. We use no steam as a vehicle for our inhalant one, which tends to make the patient take cold more readily upon exposure, but use a new process, by which the steam can be avoided. Fully one-half the cases of so-called consumption are due to catarrh and can be cured by our new method.

The results of this treatment in nasal catarrh are surprising, when it is remembered that not five per cent of cases are cured by the ordinary practitioner, and yet patent medicines never record a cure at all. Constitutional remedies are usually required for the blood, liver, etc.

Consultation free. If impossible to visit the office a treatise and list of questions will be sent by mail.

The following testimonial of a gentleman well known in Los Angeles, who has a law office at 65½ North Spring street, will show how quickly catarrh can be cured:

This is to certify that I am a regularly qualified physician, but not practicing, and have always believed catarrh of the chronic nasal variety to be an incurable affliction, but hearing of Dr. W. N. Davis' new treatment and his success, I applied to him for medicine and determined to try it in the case of one of my friends, and did so with the most satisfactory result, as improvement was immediate, and one prescription effected a cure. The case was of years' standing and of a very severe type. I can recommend Dr. Davis to those similarly afflicted. S. HALEY, M. D.

Los Angeles, August 1, 1885.

Office Hours—10 to 12 a. m., 1 to 4 p. m., and 7 to 8 p. m.

Graduate of Victoria College, Toronto, Ontario; Licentiate Physician in and for the state of Michigan; also member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario; for twelve years Associate Physician of the Chicago and Cincinnati Throat and Lung Institute; for fifteen years, and still, proprietor of the Detroit Throat and Lung Institute, and for several years Proprietor of the Ontario Pulmonary Institute and Health Resort at Toronto, where 40,000 cases were treated by us during the past nineteen years.

In order to show how successfully lung diseases can be cured when properly treated, I refer the gentlemen of the city, who are well and favorably known by many of the people of Los Angeles, to

Rev. Rev. H. F. Spencer, M. E. Minister, Los Angeles.
Mills, Esq., Banker, Los Angeles.
To Whom it May Concern:

Two months ago I came to Dr. M. Hilton Williams for medical treatment. I had been a severe sufferer from that most disagreeable of all diseases, catarrh and bronchitis, hawking and spitting large quantities of yellow mucus from the head, having more or less pain in the forehead, and was also troubled hardly able to walk about, suffering even from the weight of my clothes.

I was nervously prostrated as well by the heavy labors of my charge; but by the faithful use of his essential treatment for the blood and the inhalations for the head and throat, I am entirely restored to health, and I have now no trouble with mucus on the bronchial tubes. I can walk with ease six or eight miles a day, and there is very little discharge from the nose and head. All irritation has ceased.

It would be unnatural in me not to have the fullest confidence in the doctor's treatment. Indeed, I believe catarrh and lung trouble cannot be successfully treated in any other way. Inhalation reaches all the parts affected, and I feel sure it will cure in time every case curable, if taken in time. I take pleasure in saying this to the friends of the afflicted, as well as in just to do the doctor.

Rev. H. F. SPENCER,
Methodist Episcopal Church.

From Rev. John Russell, Presiding Elder of the Marquette District of the Michigan Conference of the M. E. Church:

M. HILTON WILLIAMS, M. D.—My Dear Sir—Some time over a year ago, Wm. A. Russell, then in his twenty-first year, had what the physicians called hemorrhage of the lungs, some of which he has had since he began the use of your remedies, followed by extreme prostration and nervous debility. In truth, to my judgment and to that of others who knew him intimately, his symptoms indicated a rapid decline and an early death by pulmonary consumption. But under your treatment he has recovered his health so as to be able to labor as of old. I attribute his improved condition, under God, to your medical skill and method of treating diseases of this nature. With the sincerest prayer that God may render your professional service a blessing to many others who are similarly afflicted, I am, yours very truly,

Rev. JOHN RUSSELL,
Presiding Elder.

From Rev. L. R. Fiske, D. D., President Albion College, Albion, Mich., formerly pastor of Central M. E. Church, Detroit, Mich., and editor of the Christian Advocate:

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 25, 1877.

DR. WILLIAMS—Dear Sir: I am glad to add my testimony to the efficacy of the treatment my son has received. In the spring of 1877, my son, then at the age of 22, was suffering from a severe affection of the bronchial tubes and lungs, so as to confine him to the house, room, and the most of the time his bed. Within the space of two weeks he experienced a severe hemorrhage from the lungs, which the ordinary remedies afforded but temporary relief. I applied to you, who supplied him with inhaling medicines, which effected an immediate arrest of this bleeding, and which has never occurred since he began the inhalation. Respectfully,

Rev. L. R. FISKE,

Let there be no delay, then, in application to the treatment which has for the last nine years has proved again and again the only hope—the only reliable safeguard and means of restoration.

Our Eastern friends should not depend upon quack patent medicines, for herein lies the fatal mistake. Nearly every case requires the particular attention, as to become a life offending matter—the consolidated portions of the lungs—thereby giving nature an opportunity to heal.

HALL'S Journal of Health says: "Intense thirst is satiated by wading in water, or by keeping the clothing saturated with water, even if it is taken from the sea." This is not the Kentucky plan.

In a single county of New York, Suffolk, one hundred and six farms have been turned into peanut plantations. The toothsome vegetable has an enormous consumption in the United States, and is also popular in New Jersey.

THE San Diego Sun laughs to scorn the idea that the Atlantic and Pacific railroad will "fix its terminus at Santa Monica," with branches up the rugged coast and down to San Diego. The Sun's unbelief is justifiable.

A WOMAN was arrested in New York the other day for bigamy who had been in succession a professional roller-skater, a book agent, a domestic and a captain of the Salvation Army. When arrested she was on her way to California.

DR. THEODORE CAMARIUS, who has just returned to Illinois, after having spent twenty years in the consular service of this government at Samoa, declares that Germany was frightened out of its attempts to annex the Samoan Islands by the protests of himself and the British consul. This goes to show that there are some obstacles that even Germany dare not tackle.

IT seems that it is really proposed to arm the British infantry with shields. The new piece of armor, it is said, "covers a surface of a foot square, is warranted bullet-proof, weighs three pounds, and fizes on the rifle much after the fashion of the bayonet. The idea is that the soldiers when thrown out as skirmishers, will carry their own cover with them, while, by sticking the point of the shield in the ground, they will not only be protected in firing, but will have a rest for their rifles."

UNDER the caption of "Good Times," the San Francisco Post says: "The rise in the price of wheat is brightening the whole business outlook in this city and State. Within a fortnight there has been an advance from $1.43½ per cental to $1.53½. The advance is due to the steady improvement in the English market and other centers, owing to the shortage in the world's wheat supply and the speculation incident to the Roumelian disturbance, with the consequent possibility of a European war. The effect of the enhanced prices is marked in this city. The stagnation which for the past six months has prevailed in shipping circles is replaced by activity and cheerfulness." Charters are active and there is animation along the water front. The revival of manufactures in the East is giving California wool-growers booming prices for their clips, and the prospect all around is good, according to the authority which we quote. Another San Francisco paper, the Alta, says: "The business revival is concurrent with resumption of railroad building. The number of new roads projected is 626, total mileage 44,393, of which New England has 813, Middle States 2333, Southern States 9414, Western States 27,826, and Pacific States 4137. These roads are principally short lines as trunk feeders and to accommodate localities."

"MORE MUD."

The Supervisors Asked for a Wider Margin in their Bog Stock.

The mass meeting of citizens held a few weeks ago at the Board of Trade rooms, appointed Messrs. Shorb, Mayberry, Hamilton, Halliday, Denker and Workman a committee to go before the County Supervisors and insist on the appropriation of money sufficient to eradicate the cottony cushion bug and the institution of more active measures thereto.

This committee met October 6 and adopted the following statement to present to the Supervisors:

"After a thorough discussion and exchange of opinions as to the destructiveness and ultimate results of the cottony cushion scale and red scale, if not eradicated, this committee recommend that every possible effort should be made to exterminate the pests.

"That after a conference with the Horticultural Commission, reading their September report to the Board of Supervisors, it was unanimously endorsed that the Supervisors be requested to make the appropriation asked for once under the Horticultural law; also, that in addition to the $16,000 asked for by the commission, that this committee recommend that $10,000 more be appropriated for the purpose of allowing the Commissioners to employ additional Inspectors; to provide for a complete spraying machine and other implements requisite and necessary for operating the same, this machine to be used under the direction of the Commission for cleaning and crushing the scale from trees from the property of such persons as refuse or fail to properly disinfect their places; also of persons who cannot do their work on account of poverty; all such work done to become a lien upon the property where the work is done; the enforcement of such liens to be at the option of the County Supervisors."

The Committee of Fifty appeared before the Board of Supervisors Wednesday and urged the necessity of adopting such an ordinance as would fully carry out the above, each member of the Committee addressing the Supervisors.

The Supervisors made an appropriation of $2500, and it is understood that other sums will be voted as required.

KINDERGARTENS.

Annual Meeting—Remarks by Dr. Stebbins and Miss Brayton.

The annual meeting of the Los Angeles Kindergarten Association was held yesterday, at the First Congregational Church. After the business of the meeting had been transacted, Rev. Dr. Stebbins made a few remarks regarding the organization of kindergartens in San Francisco. The plan of connecting them with the public school system has not there met with much favor. There are some difficulties in the way, which Dr. Stebbins thought might be overcome by modifying our public school system as it at present exists. The private kindergartens established a few years ago have been productive of much good. Referring ENLARGED SHEET.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1885.

THE opening of the Los Angeles and San Gabriel Valley Railroad was thus noted by the Chicago Inter-Ocean: "Los Angeles, Cal., last week celebrated, with great rejoicing, the opening of her new railroad through Pasadena and up the picturesque and fertile San Gabriel Valley. This valley combines enough of beauty with perfection of climate to have been the veritable Eden of the lost centuries. The new facilities for reaching it will make the San Gabriel the charming residence place of multitudes of people who do business in Los Angeles, the southern metropolis of California. The road was originally the scheme of a young engineer from Cincinnati, S. P. Jewett, who finally enlisted in the enterprise two capitalists, Mr. Crank and Mr. Washburn, and through his skill and pluck and energy and their money and aid the work has been pushed to success, even amid discouragements that would have appalled less courageous men. The road eventually will connect with the Atlantic & Pacific, and make by far the shortest and most desirable route from the East to Southern California, as it will exchange the desert for a ride through one of the most attractive and fruitful valleys in any quarter of the world. California has a great future before it, and these facilities for reaching it will largely aid in its development."

THE popularity of the Hon. Ira Davenport, whom the New York Republicans are going to elect Governor, is shown conclusively by the vote he received last year when he ran for Congress in the Twenty-ninth District. The three counties composing the district are Ontario, Steuben and Yates. Mr. Davenport's vote was 19,987, and his plurality over his Democratic opponent was 3610. These same counties cast in the Congressional election of 1882 14,941 Republican and 16,063 Democratic votes. In other words, the Republican vote, with the inspiration of Mr. Davenport's candidacy, increased 5,046 in two years, while the Democratic vote increased only 914 in the same time. The change in Mr. Davenport's home county, Steuben, is remarkable also. In 1882 the Democrats carried the county by 1510 majority, but in 1884 it gave, on the Congressional vote, a Republican majority of 1411. So if there is any virtue in the verdict of the vicinage, the New York Republicans need not fear to quote it in favor of the man whom they have chosen to lead them in the important campaign of this year.

A VERY interesting article concerning General Grant is contributed to the last number of the Century magazine by General J. H. Wilson, who had intimate relations with Grant during the war. The article relates that at the camp-fire one night the writer was talking with General Sherman, when the latter suddenly said:

Wilson, I am a great deal smarter man than Grant; I see things more quickly than he does. I know more about law, and history, and war, and nearly everything else that he does; but I'll tell you where he beats me and where he beats the world: He don't care a d—n for what he can't see the enemy doing, and it scares me like h—ll!

Sherman here stated the case very well, albeit somewhat profanely. One of the strongest points in a leader, whether in peace or in war, is never to get panic-stricken.

MR. GRADY, editor of the Atlanta Constitution, is a sound Democrat; but the Chronicle, of that city, says he favors a $5000 whisky license for all saloons. The Southern States have kept their temperance separated from a political party, and it is certain that temperance in its best sense has been the gainer. Georgia has made rapid strides in favor of temperance during the last ten years, and to-day, without a prohibition party, consumes less liquor in proportion to population than States where they are trying to enforce the prohibition laws enacted.

THE Times of San Bernardino says: "As the gap on the California Southern railroad grows beautifully less, the greater the interest seems to be taken by our merchants in Calico, Waterman, Daggett and other towns along the line of the road; and almost every day some of our business men pass over, 'just to see, to see the road, you know.' When trains commence to run regularly over the road, the business of San Bernardino will begin to pick up very noticeably."

OHIO Republican papers say confidently that victory floats in the air and cannot but perch upon the Republican banner. Chairman Bushnell, of the State Executive Committee, gave vent to his feelings as follows to a Cincinnati reporter, in answer to an interrogatory concerning the situation: "Glorious, my son, glorious," said the captain. "We are certain to win. Can't help it, you know. The tide is going our way all over the State, and neither the Democrats, Prohibitionists, nor anybody else can stem it."

FRED HAGUINTHE, the apostle of peace, appears to be in favor of war. He lately conducted a service for the repose of the dead soldiers lost in Tonquin. He said: "War cannot be dispensed with. Without it what is there to preserve the liberty of nations? Those who advocate its abolition are dangerous, almost criminal, Utopians." The pere would subscribe cheerfully to the Grand Army sentiment: "We're bound to have peace, even if we have to fight for it!"

A "SHOOFLING SCOUNDREL" is the picturesque epithet applied to Brer. St. John by Murat Halstead, the fighting field-marshal of the Cin. Com.-Gaz.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

SANTA ANA.

SEDGWICK RELIEF CORPS—OTHER NOTES.

Correspondence of the TIMES.

SANTA ANA, Oct. 6.—Dr. Lacy was going out on a professional visit the other night and two footpads attempted to stop his horse, but the horse shied and passed on without their stopping him. The doctor will after this be prepared with a dose for them that is more prompt in its action than mercury.

Those who attended the pomological meeting at Pomona from this section, returned delighted with the meeting and the entertainment.

Two tramps broke into a saloon and broke open a trunk a few nights ago, and stole several dollars in money. Deputy Sheriff Beard being notified of the theft, soon got on the track of them and arrested them in another saloon. He took them before Judge Freeman, who, after a careful hearing of the case, sent them up to await trial before the Superior Court for burglary.

Mrs. C. Mason Kinne succeeded in her mission to this place in organizing a Woman's Relief Corps, an auxiliary of the G. A. R.

The officers elected and installed were: President, Mrs. Carrie H. Paul; Senior Vice-President, Mrs. Layman; Junior Vice-President, Mrs. Cummings; Secretary, Miss Alice Collins; Treasurer, Blanch Dripp; Chaplain, Mrs. Emery; Conductor, Mrs. Johnson; Grand, Miss A. E. Paul.

In the evening Mrs. Kinne, assisted by Mr. Ellis as Conductor, instituted the officers in the presence of the boys in blue as invited guests. Everything passed off in a dignified and pleasant manner.

The new corps has twenty-two charter members, and is hailed as Sedgwick Woman's Relief Corps, No. 17.

Raisin-making is progressing nicely. Never before were so many raisins cured and ready for market at this time of the year. Several carloads have already been shipped to the Eastern markets.

A building boom has just struck our town and several buildings are soon to be erected.

A company has been organized here for packing raisins and for packing fruit.

Foggy mornings and dusty, rutty roads are the unpleasant things annoying us just now. NEWTON.

LUGONIA.

PEACHES AND THE PEN.

Correspondence of the TIMES.

LUGONIA, Oct. 8.—Since writing last your correspondent has had his hands too full of peaches to make good use of the pen; but that trouble (?) is over for the present season at least, as the peaches are all harvested, marketed and paid for, which, of course, is the best part of the business. Dried fruits, this season, from this part of the country, have brought a very fair price; much better than was anticipated in the summer. The Lugonia Fruit Packing Company handled several hundred tons of fresh fruits this season, most of which has already been disposed of at good prices. A number of individuals have also dried a few tons each and readily disposed of the same.

The building interest about here is of a more expensive nature than heretofore. The new hotel has already assumed very attractive proportions. D. L. Clark, the proprietor, is one of our best citizens.

Dr. Stillman has nearly completed his new winery, which is a large and commodious building, capable of handling many tons of grapes in the season.

A short distance across Mill Creek, in the settlement of Redlands, Mr. Morrison is putting up a fine residence, which is fast nearing completion, and will be an ornament to that portion of the settlement.

Rev. A. L. Park and his interesting family have arrived in Lugonia from Washington, D. C., and have taken up their permanent abode among us.

Last Saturday a barn, belonging to Harvey Hewitt, of this place, was destroyed by fire, in which were stored farming implements of considerable value, several tons of barley, and a small quantity of hay. The fire is thought to have originated from burning brush.

Our people are fast coming home from the seacoast and mountains, where nearly every family has had representatives, at some time during the season.

Among the latest novelties in the way of entertainments of which we have heard, was a "bread-and-milk soirée," which was indulged in by several families, and reported a very enjoyable time. One thing we are sure of: No one went away with a "brick in his hat." COROLO.

FLORENCE.

IMPROVED BUSINESS—LOCAL AND PERSONAL NOTES.

(Correspondence of the TIMES.)

FLORENCE, Oct. 8.—Business is still progressing in the vineyards. The apple crop is good, but cheap in price. Some are holding their late varieties for a better price.

Building improvements are noticeable here and there.

Messrs. Diller and Ruoff, at Tajauta, are preparing to press out their grapes into wine with a hand-press, thinking it more profitable than selling them to the wineries at the cheap rates offered them.

The corn crop is good where sufficient water could be obtained.

Hogs are dull sale at three cents per pound.

The daily attendance of the Green Meadow public school is about 33 scholars. Charles Batchelder is teacher.

A party consisting of J. F. Durrell, John Durrell (late from the East), Amos Durrell and Carey Blakeslee report the pulling in of some very large fish below the salt works one day last week.

A reception was tendered Rev. Mr. Crum at the parsonage last Friday evening.

F. P. Culver, Jr., of Compton, is the canvassing agent for the illustrated work on Grant and his Memoirs. He reports good success.

E. H. Russell, M. D., and his newly-married wife popped in among the natives on last Saturday. He has been absent nearly two years. They return to Visalia next week, where he is engaged in his profession. Appearances indicate that the M. D. has a very affable little better half.

George Nadeau and Mr. Atwood are shipping their grapes for drying to Alpine, near Lancaster.

It was a change of venue, and Mrs. Barbey, of Compton, was found guilty in Justice Wilson's court last Tuesday of causing the shooting of her neighbor's fowls. J. F. C.

SIERRA MADRE.

SUBDIVISION OF A LABOR RANCHO.

Correspondence of the TIMES.

SIERRA MADRE, Oct. 7.—The days and nights are now very comfortable again, and we sincerely hope we may have no more "spells of weather" this season.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Robinson is very sick; small hopes of its recovery.

Miss Alma Jones, of this place, left Oakland on the 1st inst., for Cambridge, England, where she will complete her education.

Quite a number of Chinamen employed here "laid down de shovel and de hoe" one day last week to attend the obsequies of one of their countrymen of Los Angeles, who committed suicide by taking opium and vinegar.

It is rumored that the Hastings ranch of several hundred acres, which joins the Sierra Madre tract on the west, has been sold to a company who are to develope more water, subdivide it into small places and put it on the market.

We wish the public and everybody else would learn that Sierra Madre Villa and Sierra Madre are two separate institutions and have no connection whatever. Sierra Madre Villa, as most people, know is a hotel and gets its mail daily by the carriage which meets the train at San Gabriel station. Sierra Madre is a colony about a mile east, on the same elevation of land, and gets its mail at present three times per week, which is carried by U. S. to Sierra Madre and Duarte. The postmistress at San Gabriel is a very careful and painstaking woman, and if mail is properly directed there will be no confusion and it will reach its proper destination.

Individuals and communities advertise their public spirit or their indifference to anything of the sort by the condition of their roads or streets. As an illustration, anyone driving east from San Gabriel on the county road to Duarte will pass Messrs. Rose and Chapman's fine places, but their roadsides are kept much as the old farmer's harness, who never allowed a grease spot to get on it. The brush and cactus grow within a foot of the wheel-track on either side, but when you come to Baldwin's line, what a contrast! On either side of the road for miles Australian red gum and pepper trees alternate; not a weed is allowed to grow there, and they are as carefully watered and cultivated as any trees on the rancho. If the first-named gentlemen would pattern after Mr. Baldwin in this matter, the dusty and sun-burned traveler would rise up and call them blessed.

WATER FACILITIES—RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.

Correspondence of the TIMES.

ORANGE, Oct. 7.—Weather fine, with very light morning fogs.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry West have a son, born September 29.

Mr. Walker, two miles southeast of town, is putting up a fine residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Eli. Canfield have moved into the Rogers residence and settled down to housekeeping.

Mr. Preble, while near the dam on Monday last, met with quite an accident. His horse shied suddenly, upsetting the carriage and throwing him to the ground. Fortunately, he held on to the lines, and stopped the animal in time to save the carriage from becoming a total wreck. Mr. Preble escaped with some bruises and a serious shaking up.

The annual election for directors of the S. A. V. I. Company, always a busy and exciting day, took place the 6th, and resulted in the choice of J. B. Parker, John Fletcher, T. Preble, Wm. Spurgeon and W. G. McPherson.

On Monday, a party of gentlemen, under the guidance of the Ditch Superintendent, went up the river three-quarters of a mile above the dam, to a point where the Superintendent believed there was a ledge of rock crossing the river bed, which could be made a solid foundation for a dam. A thorough examination of the river-bed ledge convinced the party that the Superintendent was correct in his opinion, and also satisfied them that a canal intersecting this ledge would develop a large amount of water in addition to what we already have. Stocks and Bonds.

By Slocum & Co., San Francisco.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Government bonds dull, steady.

Stocks were unusually active and for a time steady, but during the last two hours the earlier advances were principally lost, and in some cases all and fractionally more. The market closed feverish, irregular and heavy. Lackawanna led in point of activity, as well as in the advance made, closing with a gain of 2½ per cent. The most notable decline was in Pacific Mail, which is down ¾ per cent. on limited business. The general movement recently started in Oregon Navigation and Transcontinental was somewhat checked by realizing up to 85½, and 1¾ per cent. of which was subsequently lost. The gross earnings of the company for September, as reported, amounted to 1½ per cent. on capital stock. There was a difficulty at E. T. McGinnis's saloon at about 7 o'clock last evening. John Buster and Tom Lightner were the belligerents; and of course when two such names came together, there was bound to be thunder. Both were very drunk. It is stated by eye-witnesses that Lightner offered to pull a "gun" and Buster drew a long Colt's .44 and fired, when V. L. Sanchez struck up the barrel. The ball broke a window in the swing door; Buster and Lightner were both arrested by Sanchez.

A CHINESE SU-SONG.

Elaborate Ceremonies Over the Death of a Celestial.

A GORGEOUS AND PECULIAR SCENE.

How Foo Chong Climbed the Golden Stair—His Post-Mortem Dinner—Supplying His Spirit With Cash and a Store Suit, Etc.

Though the Los Angeles Chinafown contains several hundred Celestials, who are as subject to mortality as the rest of us, it is rarely that our citizens have the opportunity of witnessing a "bang-up" Chinese funeral. Most of the decedents are laborers or persons of little moment, and they are committed to the grave with the minimum of demonstration. Last Saturday, however, the pig-tailed fraternity had a funeral ceremony as interesting as it was rare here.

Foo Chong, or, as he was commonly called, Joe Fook Chong, was a well-to-do merchant of Sanchez street, and a member of the Hop Wo Company. He was about 30 years of age, and came to this city something like ten years ago. His wife and two children are in the Flowery Kingdom, as are also his aged grandparents. The current of business set against Foo Chong, and it is understood that he became considerably involved in debt. He grew dispirited and resolved to take his departure for Tiny Hong, the happy hunting-ground of his ancestors. He wrote a letter to a friend here, saying, "Farewell, farewell! I am going away." A note of leave-taking was also written to his wife in far-off China. Then Chong took out his little horn opium case, dug from it a mass of the dark paste, mixed it with vinegar, and ate it. In a little while his soul had taken flight to a land where there are no O'Donnells. That was Thursday. Saturday morning preparations began in earnest for giving the late lamented the

BIGGEST SORT OF A "SU-SONG"

(funeral). There is quite a space between the sidewalk and the store—18 Sanchez street—and pepper trees droop heavily in front of the porch. On the south side of the clean-swept space under the pepper trees, directly in front of the door, two large banners, with rollers at each end, were hung up, apparently to break the force of the wind. They were of white cloth with blue border. Upon the white, in very large Chinese characters, was painted the name of the deceased, with the dates of his birth and death. Later in the day a planed board, three feet long and eight inches wide, the lower end unpainted, and the upper two feet a deep green with red inscriptions, was leaned up against the banners. It was the headboard to be placed over the grave. A smaller board, destined to go at the foot of the grave, accompanied it. Upon one of the lintels of the door was knotted a narrow strip of white cloth. The corpse was lying in the front room south of the entrance, in a rather expensive coffin. The body was dressed in a white suit, with blue trimmings, and was covered with a curious white robe. The head was closely swathed, and had several sheets of Chinese paper over it. A little after 11 o'clock a number of Celestials brought out three tables, set them under the trees, and began to spread

A FEAST FOR THE DEAD.

The idea that a Chinaman lives on rats and offal is a mistake. He is a familiar patron of the markets and commission merchants, and is particularly noted for poultry. Probably no American citizen ever gets away with as many ducks and chickens as a Chinaman in the same circumstances. And John doesn't, like the rest of us, get through eating when he gets through breathing. The Chinese "feed their dead" twice a year. A couple of weeks ago they had eighteen whole roasted pigs and other viands out at Evergreen cemetery to banquet the there interred.

Having set out the tables beneath the shade, the workers began to produce the eatables. Two Chinamen came trudging from a bakeshoue with a pool from shoulder to shoulder. In a bamboo sling depending from the pole was a wide carving-board, and upon it a whole roast pig. He was placed upon the table farthest from the banners, and a mask was soon put down beside him. Each pig was probably a 75-pounder. They had been split from nose to tail, and sprawled upon their bellies. Their forefeet were carried around and tucked into the flesh each behind its own shoulder. A gash was cut into each side, and into it was twisted a hind trotter. Both pigs were done to a beautiful mesquite brown. They had the rear table to themselves. Upon the tables in front, however, there was a novel variety of viands spread. First to be noticed were the four plates of biscuit. They—the biscuits, not the plates—seemed to have been boiled rather than baked; at least there was on any of them. Half were of a corpse-like pallor—neither white nor yet exactly grey—and the rest a brilliant cardinal. All were of a size as closely as if run in one mould, and all had "raised" well. Stuck on the sides of the pyramids into which the biscuits were built, were little wheels of the same material, cooked in the same way, whose spokes were alternate corpse-color and cardinal. The next notable entree was the poultry—a hen and a rooster, stripped of feathers and boiled. Their combs, wattles, etc., were left on, and their heads were held up in a life-like manner. Both had

THEIR HIND LEGS FOLDED ASTERN.

Beside the rooster and upon the same plate, was a roll of boiled fat pork; and upon it a setting of hard-boiled eggs with the shells off. Then there were pretty little bowls heaped with snowy rice; larger bowls filled with curious dainties which looked like strips of tongue peel and squash fried in fat; and yet other bowls, whose contents appeared to be dried fruits. There were chop sticks laid in front of the dishes, in lieu of knives and forks. At the table corners were little white tea pots with blue polka-dots; and these drew their inspiration, not from the herb which cheers without inebriating, but from a very American description of brandy. Last of all the table furnishings were two tin boxes, each fifteen inches long, six wide and four deep. These were well filled with sand; and clean brown paper was neatly pasted over the open tops. Their mystery was explained when some of the attendants brought forth several packages done up in splints of bamboo. Unwrapped, these proved to be from a foot in length and an inch and a half in diameter, down to less than half that size. All were of the same bright color, and all were adorned with the most brilliant hand-painting in purple, silver and gold. Each candle had a rocket-like stem of cane, and this stem, stuck down through the sand, served to hold each upright. The big candles were stuck in the middle of each box, with the little ones tapering (no pun) downward on each side. When these had been thus disposed, a great number of sticks with scented punk on the ends were also stuck into the boxes, and all were set burning together.

After innumerable doings to and fro to get the feast in shape, all was at last ready for the corpse. This was at a little after 1 p. m. Among the backs which dotted the great crowd about the spot, were two of special interest—the band-wagons. Each contained a full band of four pieces—but whether to call them string bands, brass bands, or cornet bands, would puzzle a Philadelphia lawyer, in his soberest moments.

THE BANDS.

Each orchestra had an esthetic bronze drum—or, rather, gong—suspended from the roof of the hack, and beaten upon by a small stick. Each had also a mammoth pair of cymbals, a fife, and a wooden drum. The fife had a tiny ivory mouthpiece, and a blunderbuss of a brass flare at the other end. The drum was like unto a nail-keg in size, but appeared to be carved from one piece, with the core excavated from beneath. The top was round; and the tone, under the taps of two sticks, recalled the familiar xylophone of theatre orchestras. The foot ensemble of the bands was not worse that of some American orchestras we wot of. As the bands struck up their doleful ditty, the hired mourners went in to request the deceased's attendance at the ceremonies. These or pall-bearers, were all young men, with long, white night-gowns over their other clothing, and white cock's caps on their heads. They brought out the coffin with much ado, and set it on trestles with the head to the banners and the foot to the feast. A six-inch strip of crimson cloth ran from end to end of the coffin top; and a similar but shorter strip was tied across the head of the coffin. Two gilt paper affairs with peacock feathers were stuck in the knots. Then came the most interesting part of the performance—

THE LEAVE-TAKINGS.

On the back of the rear table was a white curtain, with a green landscape painted upon it. Behind it two rows of heavy straw matting were spread upon the ground. Four of the hired mourners first advanced upon the matting, side by side. They clasped their hands, bowed thrice, and went down upon their knees. Then the other two poured brandy from the teapots into four thimble-sized china cups. Each kneeled, took a cup, drained it upon the matting before him, and thrice bowed his body until his face was within a foot of the ground. Then they rose, and the other two mourners, with two dark-clothed friends, took their places. This performance was kept up for over an hour, all the friends of the deceased thus paying their respects.

At last the dead man had feasted enough. The viands were put in F. Baker's express wagon, in which was already stored all the bedding, clothes and other property of which Chong died seized. After long delays, during which an artist photographed the curious scene, the procession started, one band ahead of the hearse, and the other at the tail end of the convoy of fifty-six vehicles. Arriving the hearse stopped while everyone gathered about. Then the coffin was taken out and set on trestles by the grave, and there was more bowing and worshipping. A lot of brown papers of different shapes were burned. Some represented money, some stood for clothing, etc., and thus the deceased went to Tiny Hong well heeled. Then the coffin was lowered into the grave, and the victuals and property of the deceased were burned in the furnace which the Chinese keep there for that purpose. This was not, as an intelligent Chinaman informs the reporter, to send the things to the next world for their former owner —who had already been provided for by the symbolic sacrifice papers—but because no Chinamen keep the dead man's things. In China, all the beggars turn out at funerals and apply to the mourners for food, which cannot be refused. The usual Chinese mourning color is white, though any hue will do save red, which must not be worn. The au-song of Foo Chong was the most elaborate here in eight years. After the ceremonies at the cemetery, the friends came home and feasted on the roast pigs.

POSTOFFICE NOTES.

The Immediate Delivery System a Success—An Appointment.

Said Postmaster Green to a TIMES reporter yesterday: "The immediate delivery system is a success. It's going to be a big thing right here in this town. We have already sent out fifty-four such letters, and the business is slowly but steadily increasing. The District Messenger system is nowhere now. We can deliver messages in less time and fifteen cents cheaper."

The reporter looked over the register of such letters delivered thus far from this postoffice. Seventeen of them were city drops, fifteen from San Francisco, ten from Pasadena, Orange, Anaheim, Santa Monica and San Bernardino, and twelve from other points, including Denver, and a town in Nebraska. The following instances, taken at random from the list, show the speediness of the system. In five minutes after it entered the postoffice, a letter had been delivered and receipted for at 989 North Main street; 413 South Spring, 13 minutes; 33 South Spring, 5 minutes; Downey avenue, 30 minutes; 117 South Bunker Hill avenue, 15 minutes; 66 Main, 7 minutes; 347 Aliso, 10 minutes; 627 Hill, 20 minutes; 429 Pearl, 30 minutes; 425 Los Angeles, 25 minutes; Baker Block, 7 minutes; Seventh street west of Pearl, 33 minutes. This is certainly quick work.

H. M. Binford has been appointed money-order clerk, vice A. J. E. Furtish, resigned.

AMUSEMENTS.

MCCUE'S EXHIBITION OF TRAINED HORSES.—The exhibition of trained horses now in progress each evening at the tent on South Main street is well worthy of a visit. It is entirely different from the old stale circus tricks, and the success which has been attained in instructing these equine prodigies is indeed marvelous. The first act is entitled "The waltz of the California broncbos," in which six horses enter the ring and dance gracefully in pairs to the music of a band. The balancing act follows, in which two horses play at see-saw, keeping time to the music and apparently enjoying their ride on the plank as much as two children would. The performance by the young Indian athlete is scarcely less wonderful. Last evening he successfully balanced on his chin and held up in the air, in succession, a whip, one chair, two chairs, and nine chairs, the latter being locked together and weighing not less than two hundred pounds. But the crowning feat was the elevation of a two hundred and seventy-five pound cast wheel to his chin and resting it there for a minute without any other support. The trained horses were brought in again and sat down, lay down on their backs, answered questions with a nod or shake of the head, carried chairs and pails in their teeth, and obeyed intelligently every command of their owner, Col. J. S. McCue. Their obedience and ready performance of their duties seems all the more remarkable when it is learned that a short time since they were wild, vicious animals, one, at least, having killed his man. The performance throughout is very satisfactory and merits a large patronage. The exhibition will continue every evening until further notice.

THE CABLE ROAD.

The Cars Running—Success of the Enterprise.

Yesterday the first round-trip with dummy and car was made over the Second street cable road. With the exception of a slight defect in a new invention at the switches, everything worked to perfection, and the car glided over the track rapidly and smoothly. The trip is a delightful one and will be taken by thousands as soon as the road is formally opened, which will be in a day or two. The road is evidently a success and will open up a delightful portion of the city which is in full view of the ocean. Since the road has become assured, there has been a considerable rise in values on South Spring street, where a new business center is rapidly forming. Rents have nearly doubled, and, in some cases, contributors to the cable road fund report that they have already been repaid tenfold for their investment. There is nothing surprising in this, for in San Francisco improvements have steadily followed the cable ro
